Wanted, a photographic gallery. There is a first class opening at Wailaku for a skillful photographer. A shrewd yankee with plenty of snap,- no pun intended,- could locate at Wailuku and build up a fine business. There has been a gallery here until recently when it was given up by the operator on account of the weight of years, thus leaving an excellent chance for a first class eparator.

There is a very interesting moral attached to the story which the Bulletin tells about the and had lumberman who has dared to come to Honolule of Egage in business. Even in Oakland, California, where the identical lumberman, only a few years since, stablis tumber yard in the face of a strongly organized comchave dared to enter the fight to down him. Of course a benefcent despotism can do such thing where it may happen to benefit their incorporated pockets to do so. But Honolulu has already become too American to permit such unfair play as was shown to Mr. Reed, and the chances are that those government piles will be lifted off that wharf by the hoisting power of public opinion.

The Hilo papers are complaining, and justly too, that there is not proper expedition shown in the matter of forwarding the mails from Honolulu, and that the same dilatory method marks the entire route of the mails. We respectfully invite the attention of the U. S. inspector now on Maui to certain little irregularities in the matter of handling the mails between Wailuku and the saveral seaports from which we receive our mails. Of course there were bound to be some hitches in changing the postal system, but those troubles are about over, and now we have a right to expect a more rapid and systematic handling of the mails than has prevailed for the last few months.

A school for Chinese Mission children in Wailuku will be an nately developed at the recent dinexcellent thing, abounding in mental and spiritual fru sweet to ner of the bar association as Houothe taste. But it would be a sublimely stupid thing to establish lulu by a jesting allusion of a prosuch a school in the site now proposed, near the junction of Market and Main streets, just across from a whiskey house, and not very far from where in the natural course of events in a few years, the Walluku railroad depot will have to be established, and worst still, on the principal business street of the town. Establish the Mission School permanently, by all means, but please dont put it near the corner of Main and Market. There are better and more appropriate places in Wailuku for it.

Some sort of amusement or recreation is an absolute need of every healthy individual and community. Even the wandering bear and trained dog satisfy a certain well defined need in the human mind and heart, if nothing more entertaining presents itself. A circus, a panorama or even a ragtime minstrel troupe brings a species of irrigation to the mental tap roots of the isolated com- lo had a bit of her own when a ther munity, which inclines to wither without some such awakening oc- mometer on Walanucaue street regcasionally. The young men of Walluku should take advantage of istered 84 deg. at 6 P. If we might offer a word of advice to the young men of Honolulu who hold clerical positions in business houses, we would suggest that if by any possible means they can get a vacation, they should avail themselves of it at once, for the simple reason that there is a rush of business soon coming to the Islands that will severely tax their strength for the next few months. Even the harly-burly of an election is not going to stay the tide of business whose crest is even now sighted in the offing.

The visit of Capt. Burnham and Oscar Sewall to Kahului and Hilo with a view of ascertaining the possibilities for ships of heavy tonnage to ply between the mainland and the seaports of the Islands, is but another straw showing that the wind of of an ever increasing commerce is setting this way.

Russia occupies an unique and masterful position on the Chinese checkerboard at present and it is a safe guess that when the continental cats have raked the chestnuts out of the fire, the monkeycheffsky will be found to have a mouthful of seaports.

To young Hawaiians just starting out in life, the NEWS (at Makena), thence to Hawaii. would like to offer one suggestion, and that is to learn to stick to one thing and avoid the novelty of too much changes for the mere sake of a change.

Is it not about time to gravel the road from the town to the reservoir? There is not a more beautiful bit of road or the Islands than that, yet one has to wade through either mud or dust, as a general rule, from High street to the reservoir site.

The opium law as administered on the Island is a species of that there are enough Japanese on jury or, in his absence, by any legal outrage, and should be materially modified by the next the Islands to supply all labor de. member thereof. legislature.
